Shared Resources Library

The LOMFR is the French application profile of the LOM.

The LOMFR describes educational objects (resources).

Any entity (digital or not) used in a teaching, training or learning process is considered to be an educational resource.

Its objectives are as follows:

- allow a better visibility of the offer of educational objects, digital or not.

- have standards to be met to ensure the sustainability, interoperability, and a certain openness of the digital resources produced, in relation to the distribution and consultation platforms of these resources. (excerpt from the experimental standard).

It concerns the whole educational community:

- French educational community (primary, secondary, higher education) - training community (vocational training, continuing education) - documentalists and librarians - publishers, companies
