Shared bookshop : User Guide

Publish an existing shared resource within a course

The operation is generally carried out by a teacher when building its course content.

The invocation of the shared library from a course context is stored in user session. As a result, the tools for direct integration of search results into the original course are activated and allow easier integration of the resource, depending on its resource type and possible deployment modes.

The use case scenario is :

1. Access to the library from a course
2. Execution of a multi-criteria research
3. Select a result for integration, choosing the appropriate integration tool.
4. Back to course.

Example rendering of a shared resource within a course:
